

Tim Stout

Tim Stout is the Vice President of Energy Efficiency at National Grid. In this capacity, he is responsible for the design, implementation and evaluation of National Grid's energy efficiency programs in New England. He has worked in a variety of DSM-related positions at National Grid since 1987. Tim currently serves on the Board of Directors of the Consortium for Energy Efficiency and the American Council for an Energy Efficient Economy. Prior to joining National Grid, he worked as an Energy Specialist at the Conservation Law Foundation. Tim earned his Bachelors Degree in Environmental Studies from Middlebury College and his Masters Degree in Energy and Environmental Policy from Boston University.